ICADE LAUNCHES TRIAL 5G PLATFORM FOR HEADQUARTERS AND CERTAIN PROPERTIES

Icade announces the introduction of an open platform for 5G trials at its Open headquarters in Issy-les-Moulineaux, some of its properties (Saint-Denis, La Défense) and its Paris Orly-Rungis business park.

Icade has requested and obtained authorisation from the French regulatory authority for electronic communications (Arcep) to use a 200 MHz frequency band on the 26 GHz band in order to carry out 5G trials in office buildings until 2022.

The aim of this trial platform is to design new office buildings equipped with innovative communication systems capable of providing exceptional indoor mobile connectivity, as well as 5G services (management of a huge number of connected objects in order to improve building management, telemedicine services for healthcare facilities, high-end services for VIP meeting rooms, etc.).

A call for expressions of interest from companies to test the trial 5G network and offer innovative services for offices will be launched in 2020.

"This trial shows Icade's pioneering spirit in terms of connectivity in office buildings. Data and customer services are the innovation priorities in our 2019-2022 strategic plan," explains Olivier Wigniolle, CEO of Icade. "5G will open up new possibilities, and this trial will enable us to better identify these possibilities so that in the future we can offer our customers new tailor-made services in our buildings."
